

GET READY FOR YOUR RABBIT!

Main Area

Indoor?

An exercise pen to keep your bunny out of trouble when you're not around to supervise.

Outdoor?

A fully predator proof area - one area can be for relaxing and sleeping but there needs to be access to larger areas of space also (see our "Rabbit Care Informational Brochure".)

A hide big enough for a comfortable snooze and a place to go when life gets a bit much. P.S. Rabbits don't care about how pretty it looks, a cardboard box will do.

A litter box area. Under-bed storage totes are a great option for this.

Wood pellets or wood shavings for inside the litterbox area.

Diet

Timothy, Orchard or Local Hay (buy by the bale is the most cost-effective option!)

Quality pellets. We recommend 16% Rabbit Pellets from Shar-Kare. Another good, but pricier, option is Oxbow Rabbit Pellets.

A bowl for fresh, clean water. The heavier, the better.

Enrichment

Rabbits love to chew, chew, chew! Provide apple/willow branches. There's lots of information online about safe wood to give your rabbit.

Rabbits love to hop, jump and explore. Different height objects (but not too high!) can offer lots of fun. Again, cardboard boxes are great for this!
